The Gender Pay Gap reporting legislation was introduced in April 2017. The legislation requires employers with more than 250 employees to identify and publish their annual gender pay gap, to encourage all employers to take action to reduce or eliminate any gender pay gap.

Wycombe Abbey employs over 400 employees and overall employed significantly more women than men as of 5 April 2021. Within our female employee population in April 2021 there were a higher proportion employed within all the four quartiles that we are required to report on. The data shows that 74.87% of those in our highest paid and senior leadership roles are women, on average we have 74.5% of women within our middle two quartiles and 74.5% of our lowest paid employees are also women.

The mean gender pay gap is 8.41% higher for men than for women but this does not reflect clearly the number of women we employ in all areas of employment throughout the School. Slightly more men have been recruited into the upper middle quartile in the past year and, with a small population size, this has had a measurable impact on the mean values.

Wycombe Abbey aims to be at the forefront of girls' boarding education and the presence of successful women in senior positions presents a good role model to the pupils. In keeping with this aim, we continue to be committed to ensuring that Wycombe Abbey leads the way in standards to promote and safeguard equality in the workplace.
